THE HONGKONG

Hongkong, Saturday 4 p.m., 14th March, 1891.

Kate's surprise was great. She had never before taken this—'Kate is very much better. She is eating well and sleeping well and the roses are coming in to her skin cells.' What she would have happened? In another month we could have been talking of welcoming our daughter in our new home in Manchester. How great was our joy when we saw the wonderful change which had taken place in her. She is now a fine, healthy child, and never sits anything more than such girl as you.

New, what wrought this change? What answer has back our daughter, seemingly all recovered from the brink of the grave? I will answer frankly, for there is nothing to conceal.—Seeing her deplorable state, and that none of the medicines she had taken had done good, it was given to Kate and me, or grandmother one day said to herself, 'I think I will give Kate a dose out of my little bottle of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup.' Our grandmother had received great benefit from the medicine herself for a complaint of the same kind. It was given to Kate and in good effect was immediate. She at once rested more tranquilly and had something of an appetite, and a little later her grandmother was justified in writing to us. 'I have already stated' (Signed) Frederick Butcher, 6 Birch Road, Cranwall, near Manchest.

Mr and Mrs Butcher are people of the highest respectability and well educated. At some years Mr Butcher was an assistant at the great shop of the Messrs. Brown, Martin & Co., Manchester, and an English physician writes that Miss Kate Butcher is one of the brightest young ladies to be met with anywhere—quick, peevish, and full of vivacity and wit.

The speaking of the daughter's recovery hereafter says, 'I do not want anyone to tell me say there is no medicine so good as Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup.'

The proprietors of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup desire to make no false impressions. The young girl did not have consumption. She suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia, and from poverty of the blood, like myriads of her sex. The cough, which sounded so consuming, was one of the symptoms, not the disease. She needed life and strength from her food, but how could she get it with her stomach torpid and dead?

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup corrected ailment at the root, and recovery quickly followed. We repeat once more the fact that it taught by this interesting case. When it doubt treat any of the above ailments as symptoms of indigestion and dyspepsia, and in nine instances out of ten you will see just such a wonder as narrated above. We wish long life and happy days to this young lady and her good parents and friends.
